

We are a company which deals with sale and assembly of products dedicated for improvements of room acoustics according to the Polish Norm PN-B-02151-04:2015-06, that is the so-called reverberation norm. As a matter of fact, the norm has been implemented already in 2015, however, until now it was in force as a set of guidelines, good practices for designers and engineers. Since 2019, guidelines of the acoustic norm must be applied obligatory in all newly designed and modernized objects. The acoustic norm refers to any public buildings, such as schools, kindergartens, health care buildings, office buildings or sport facilities.

Our cooperation with interior designers is related with realization of architectural projects. Offer of our products enables us to adjust to the most individual needs of every client. Together we can create beautiful and perfect rooms for comfortable living and work. We encounter every project with individual approach, starting from the concept works stage.

The offer for interior designers covers discounts for our products, technical advisory and also realization of investment. Partnership program will enable a long-lasting, mutually effective cooperation and for designers, access to our offer and technical support of our team.

We offer for sale acoustic panels of such producers like: FKLITY from Czech Republic, BAUX from Sweden, TOCKKY from USA, CORKBEE from Poland. Technical parameters, photogallery and catalogues are available on our web site www.acoustic4you.com and www.tockky.com. Our employees guarantee solid and professional assembly. For designers and architects cooperating within the partnership program, we deliver samples of our materials. We constantly cooperate with our partners, perform presentations of our products, provide technical advisory in the aspect of applications of specific products. Our products can be applied even in the most advanced architectural projects.

Discounts and benefits are defined individually, depending on a project and used materials. Joining our partnership program enables a chance to extend offer and establish cooperation with a solid and safe partner, who supports every project from the stage of concept works, to realization of technical actions along with future post-completion support.

You are welcome to contact our company at email: office@acoustic4you.com